

My Hearing Loss Caused My Grandson to Embarrass Me in Public!

This latest technological advancement lets you beat hearing loss and enjoy life again. According to the American Academy of Audiology, 36 million Americans experience hearing loss. Chances are you are one of them, especially if you are over 60 years old.

There is a revolutionary new, high-tech device that is taking America by storm. It's one-tenth of the cost of regular hearing aids, and you don't need a doctor to get them.

I was extremely fortunate to find this device because I was having a terrible time hearing.

Let me tell you. There is nothing more frustrating and humiliating as being mocked by your 4-year-old grandson in public because you can't hear what he's saying. That's when you feel old and just want to stay home.

My wife and I enjoy taking our daughter and grandson out every week. There is always something to see, especially for little Danny.

The other day he was showing me the latest toy and asking me a question. The room was crowded, noisy, and I couldn't understand what he said. As usual, I responded, "What?" without thinking about it.

I could see how disappointed he was. The excitement left him. He looked up at me and exclaimed in a loud voice,

"I'm going to call you Grandpa What!"

That's the moment I realized I had a real hearing problem, but I didn't know what to do about it.

Update: This groundbreaking hearing device helps Americans instantly improve their hearing and quality of life. It costs just 1/10th of name-brand hearing aids, and you don't need a doctor to use them. Click here now to read more about it!

If You're Over 60, You've Lost Some Hearing

I spent almost 40 years working in kitchens and food factories. The noise exposure was pretty high. And that's only my work life. Let's not forget the younger years of rocking out at concerts, cranking up the headphones or car stereo to maximum levels. Sound familiar?

A report in the medical journal JAMA Otolaryngology states that “regarding hearing loss among adults aged 20-69, the group with the greatest amount of hearing loss is 60 to 69.”

In other words, everyone has some level of hearing loss as we get older. You’re not alone.

The National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders states, “About 28.8 million U.S. adults could benefit from using hearing aids.”

So, why don’t they get them?

Stop Denying That You Have a Problem

You see, I was living in denial about my hearing loss. My wife got so tired of me asking, “What?” all the time that she gave up talking to me.

I know guys, it sounds like a good thing. Trust me. It’s not.

Here are some telltale signs that your hearing isn’t what it used to be:

- Trouble understanding people in crowded environments
- Turning the T.V. or phone volume up high
- Constantly asking people to repeat themselves
- Turning your head or cupping your hand behind your ear to hear better

Does that sound like you? Join the club. If you ever went to bed with your ears ringing from a concert or a day at work, you’re paying for it now with hearing loss.

The question is...

What are you going to do about it before you embarrass yourself?

Update: A government agency reports that over 28.8 million Americans need hearing aids. Unfortunately, at $5,000 a pair, only 20% can afford them! Now, there's a new and innovative hearing device that can perform perfectly for less than 10% of the price!

The Ridiculous Cost of Hearing Aids

I know I needed hearing aids, but they are so expensive. I saw a CBS News report that said, "The average cost to get a pair of hearing aids in the United States is about $4,700, the 3rd largest purchase in life after a house and a car."

I don't have that kind of money lying around. And, it's not just the price. It's a huge ordeal to get them.

In the U.S., most hearing aids require testing and consultation with a doctor or audiologist. They're all bundled in the price and can add two thirds to the cost of hearing aids. It's a big hassle and why only 20% of people who need hearing aids get them.

Even if I had the money, I didn't want to have some ugly things sticking out of my ear. I've seen devices that look bulky, like a telemarketer headset.

I wanted something small, almost invisible.

Guess what? I found them...

Finally, Affordable, High-Performance Hearing Aids

Fortunately, my daughter showed me a website and told me, "Dad, you need these. They are FDA registered, you can easily afford them, and you don't need to go to the doctor to buy them. You can order them online right now."

She sent me a link to a new product called Sense Hearing.

She was right. They were only $299 for a pair! I didn't need a hearing test or to see a doctor. That was a huge benefit and savings for me.

An Iron-Clad Guarantee...With a Bonus

I was able to try them risk-free for 45-days. They have a 100% money-back guarantee if I don't like them! If I have any trouble, they have a U.S.-based support staff.

So, I ordered a pair, which shipped right to my home. (They come in pairs because we have two ears. Just like reading glasses, you purchase two lenses.) They come with an easy-to-use manual and a little travel case.

Anyway, I tried them at the kitchen table, and they worked right out of the box. Instantly, I could hear as good as I did 20 years ago, listening to what they were saying on T.V... and it was in the other room!

These Sense Hearing aids are small. It took almost an hour before my buddies even noticed I was wearing them.

The giveaway was that I wasn't saying "What?" anymore.

I could clearly understand them through the usual background noise of the bar. I didn't have to lean in and turn my head to understand them.

They're so comfortable, I wear them all day long, from when I get up until I go to bed.

But that's not all...

Because I was an Early Bird ordering the new Sense Hearing aids, they give me $50 in rewards every month for 12 months! That's like paying me twice what I paid them!

I can use my rewards for dining out, shopping, travel, and over 500,000 different ways. I don't know how long they will offer this, but you can check it out on their website.

Don't Let Hearing Loss Slow You Down

Research by Frank Lin, an ear surgeon, and director of the Cochlear Center for Hearing and

Public Health at Johns Hopkins shows that hearing loss is associated with higher risks of hospitalization, depression, and especially dementia.

I don't worry about that anymore, not since I bought a pair of Sense Hearing Aids.

Here's what I like about them:

- Fits comfortably in my ear
- Very discreet and barely visible
- Only $299 plus shipping
- No doctor or a test required
- Ships directly to me
- Hear better instantly
- Works right out of the box
- 1-year warranty
- $50 in rewards for 12 months
- FDA Registered
- USA Support Staff

If you're among the 80 percent who need hearing aids but haven't bought them yet, there is no excuse anymore.

The Sense Hearing aids radically changed my life, my relationships, and my mood when I go out. Now, I go to movies, restaurants, enjoy conversations, and do things instead of being stuck on the couch with the T.V. blaring. Pulling the trigger and ordering these was the best thing I've ever done.

My biggest test was at the mall with my family. I could easily understand their conversation. And... I didn't have to bend down and ask my grandson to repeat himself. Best of all,

Danny doesn't call me "Grandpa What" anymore. I can understand him clearly, even in a crowded toy store.

Here is the link to Sense Hearing that my daughter shared with me. Don't put it off another day. I'm sure they will change your life as they did mine.
